28 PROTECTIVE ORDER

16821470

Upon the defendants' motion, and good cause appearing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that, during disclosure and discovery proceedings in this action, certain documents and information have been or may be requested, sought, produced, or exhibited by, between, and among the parties to this action, which relate to or contain "confidential information" that consists of the parties' trade secrets; confidential research, development, or proprietary commercial information; or confidential and private psychiatric, psychological, medical condition, and/or employment information; which is entitled to protection from disclosure outside this litigation and is subject to a protective order pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; and

WHEREAS, the defendants to this action, through their counsel, have established that a protective order preserving the confidentiality of certain documents and information should be entered by the Court.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED as follows:

I. Definitions

1. Confidential Information. "Confidential Information" is defined herein as any information that constitutes, reflects, discloses, or contains: (1) a "trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information" that is suitable for protection under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c)(7); and (2) information that may be protected from disclosure under a party's constitutional right of privacy such as confidential and private psychiatric, psychological, medical condition and/or employment information.

2. Trade Secret. A party, in designating information "Confidential" because it contains a "Trade Secret," shall designate only information that meets the definition of trade secret contained in 18 U.S.C.A. § 1839 (West):

the term "trade secret" means all forms and types of financial, business, scientific, technical, economic, or engineering information, including patterns, plans, compilations, program devices, formulas, designs, prototypes, methods, techniques, processes, procedures, programs, or codes, whether tangible or intangible, and whether or how stored, compiled, or memorialized physically, electronically, graphically, photographically, or in writing if--

(A) the owner thereof has taken reasonable measures to keep such

1 information secret; and

2 (B) the information derives independent economic value, actual or 3 potential, from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable through proper means by, the public

4 3. This Action. “This Action” means Kevin Phillips v. C. R. Bard, Inc., et al., Case
 5 No. Civil Action No. 3:12-cv-00344-RCJ-WGC, pending in the United States District Court, 6 District of Nevada.

7 II. Information Within The Scope of The Protective Order

8 4. This Protective Order shall govern all hard copy and electronic materials, the 9 information contained therein, and all other information produced or disclosed during This 10 Action, including all copies, excerpts, summaries, or compilations thereof, whether revealed in a 11 document, deposition, other testimony, discovery response or otherwise, by any party to This 12 Action or its representatives (the “Supplying Party”) to any other party or parties to This Action 13 or their representatives (the “Receiving Party”), whether provided voluntarily, pursuant to formal 14 discovery procedures, or otherwise.

15 III. Designating Information As “Confidential” Pursuant to This Protective Order

16 5. Documents. Any Supplying Party producing documents that contain information 17 that meets the definition of Confidential Information as provided in Paragraph 1 and 2 herein, 18 may designate the contents of the documents as “Confidential” prior to or at the time of 19 production by placing the following designation on the documents: “CONFIDENTIAL - 20 SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER.” Where a document consists of more than one page, 21 each page of the document shall be designated as such. Any document or information for which 22 it is impracticable or impossible to affix such a legend may be designated by written notice to 23 that effect with a reasonable description of the material in question including a BATES number, 24 where applicable.

25 6. If a Supplying Party makes documents or information available for inspection, 26 rather than delivering copies to another party, no “Confidential” designation is required in 27 advance of the initial inspection. For the purpose of initial inspection only, the documents shall

1 be considered “CONFIDENTIAL.” Upon production of the inspected documents, the Supplying 2 Party shall designate which of the produced or copied documents and materials are or contain 3 Confidential Information pursuant to Paragraph 5 of this Order.

4 7. Written Discovery. If responses to written discovery contain Confidential 5 Information as defined in Paragraph 1 and 2 of this Protective Order, the Responding Party may 6 designate the responses as Confidential Information by designating the responsive documents
 7 and information as set forth in Paragraph 5 with specific indication of the page and line 8 references of the material that is “Confidential” under the terms of this Protective Order.

9 8. Depositions. The parties may designate as Confidential any deposition transcript, 10 or portions thereof, in this action that meets the definition of “Confidential Information” 11 provided in Paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Protective Order. Counsel for the designating party shall 12 advise the court reporter and the parties on the record during the deposition or by letter no later 13 than thirty (30) calendar days after the court reporter provides the parties with the final 14 deposition transcript. If any portion or all of a deposition transcript is designated as Confidential 15 Information, the court reporter shall label the cover page of the original and one copy of the 16 transcript to state that Confidential Information is contained therein, and shall label as 17 “Confidential” each page of the transcript and/or exhibits to the deposition transcript that 18 constitute “Confidential Information.” Confidential designations of transcripts or portions 19 thereof apply to audio, video, or other recordings of the testimony. The court reporter shall 20 clearly mark any transcript or portion thereof released prior to the expiration of the 30-day period
 21 as “DO NOT DISCLOSE - SUBJECT TO FURTHER CONFIDENTIALITY REVIEW.” 22 Deposition transcripts or portions thereof will be treated as Confidential Information until 23 expiration of the 30-day period. If any party does not designate the transcript as “Confidential” 24 either at the time of the deposition or within the 30-day period defined above, no portion of the 25 entire transcript will be deemed “Confidential” and the “DO NOT DISCLOSE- SUBJECT TO 26 FURTHER CONFIDENTIALITY REVIEW” legend shall be removed. The 30-day period may 27 not be extended without mutual agreement of the parties.

1 9. Confidential Information Produced By Third Parties. A party in This Action 2 may designate as Confidential any document, information, or testimony produced or supplied by 3 any person or entity not a party to This Action, that constitutes or meets the definition of 4 Confidential Information as defined in Paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Protective Order. The party 5 claiming confidentiality shall designate the information as such within thirty (30) days of its 6 receipt of such information. Any party receiving information from a third party shall treat such 7 information as Confidential Information during this thirty (30) day period while all parties have 8 an opportunity to review the information and to determine whether it should be designated as 9 confidential. Any party designating third party information as Confidential Information shall 10 have the same rights, duties, and obligations, as a Supplying Party under this Protective Order.

11 10. Publicly Available Information. The restrictions and obligations set forth 12 herein shall not apply to information that is at the time of production or disclosure, or 13 subsequently becomes, through no wrongful act on the part of the Receiving Party, generally 14 available to the public through publication or otherwise.

15 IV. Limitations on Use of Confidential Information

16 11. All Confidential Information shall be used for the purpose of this lawsuit only, and 17 except as permitted by this Order, the parties and their respective attorneys, as well as experts or 18 consultants, shall not give, show or otherwise divulge or disclose the Confidential Information, 19 or any copies, prints, negatives or summaries thereof to any person or entity. Notwithstanding 20 the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, nothing in this Order shall prevent the use of any of 21 the documents or electronically stored information (“ESI”) produced pursuant to this Protective 22 Order in other actions brought by the plaintiff’s counsel, so long as a comparable protective 23 order is entered in those other actions.

24 12. Confidential Information pursuant to this Protective Order shall be treated by the 25 parties, their counsel, and any other signatory to this Protective Order as being confidential and 26 private. Any copy of Confidential Information shall have the same status as the original. The 27 disclosure and use of Confidential Information shall be confined to the permissible disclosures

1 and uses set forth in this Protective Order, and no one shall disclose or use Confidential
2 Information in a manner inconsistent with the terms and intent of this Protective Order.

3 13. Confidential Information may be disclosed only to the following persons and shall 4 be used solely for the litigation of This Action and may not be disclosed to anyone not 5 authorized under this paragraph:

- 6 a. Parties, their representatives, in-house counsel and regular employees who 7 are actively engaged in, or actively overseeing This Action;
- 8 b. Counsel of record, their associated attorneys, and support staff, including 9 paralegal and secretarial personnel who are working on This Action;
- 10 c. Experts and consultants (including their employees) who are consulted or 11 retained by a party to assist in the litigation of This Action;
- 12 d. Third-party contractors and their employees who are consulted or retained 13 by one or more parties to provide litigation-support or copy services in 14 connection with the litigation of This Action;
- 15 e. Witnesses or prospective witnesses in This Action;
- 16 f. Court reporters, videographers, and other persons involved in recording 17 deposition testimony in This Action;
- 18 g. The Court and its personnel, including any mediators and/or special 19 masters appointed by the Court, or if on appeal, the court with appellate 20 jurisdiction; and
- 21 h. Jurors in This Action.

22 14. Prior to the disclosure of any Confidential Information to any person identified in 23 Paragraph 13 above (except Court personnel and jurors), the disclosing party will provide each 24 potential recipient of Confidential Information with a copy of this Protective Order, which said 25 recipient shall read. Upon reading this Protective Order, such person shall sign an 26 Acknowledgment, annexed to this Protective Order as Exhibit A, acknowledging that he or she 27 has read this Protective Order and shall abide by its terms. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, Confidential Information may be disclosed to a witness who will not sign an Acknowledgement in a deposition at which the party who has designated the Confidential Information is represented or has been given notice that Confidential Information produced by the party may be used. These Acknowledgements are strictly confidential and shall be maintained by counsel for each party and only with good cause shown and separate court order will the Acknowledgements be disclosed to the opposing side. Persons who come into contact with Confidential Information for clerical or administrative purposes, and who do not retain copies or extracts thereof, are not required to execute Acknowledgments but must comply with the terms of this Protective Order.

15. All persons receiving or given access to Confidential Information in accordance with the terms of this Order consent to the continuing jurisdiction of this Court for the purposes of enforcing this Order and remedying any violations thereof.

16. Confidential Information shall not be placed or deposited in any sort of data bank that is made available for indiscriminate or general circulation to lawyers, litigants, consultants, expert witnesses or any other persons or entities not working on This Action and not signatories to this protective order. This paragraph and the other provisions of this Order shall not apply to materials which, if challenged by any party, the Court rules are not entitled to protection. This paragraph does not limit or restrict in any way the manner in which a party may store and make Confidential Information available to the attorneys, support staff, experts, and any other persons or entities working on This Action, provided the general terms of this Order are followed.

17. The parties and their counsel as well as their technical consultants and experts shall also not sell, offer, advertise, publicize nor provide under any condition any Confidential Information produced by any other party to any competitor of any defendant or to any employee of any competitor (irrespective of whether they are retained as an expert by a party in This Action).

18. In the event that either of the parties is served by a non-party with a subpoena for Confidential Information that was originally provided and claimed as Confidential by another

1 party, the Receiving Party will give notice to the Supplying Party, where reasonably possible, no 2 less than 10 business days prior to disclosure by providing a copy of the subpoena, to allow a 3 reasonable opportunity for the Supplying Party to object to such production before any 4 production takes place.

5 19. If a Receiving Party learns of any unauthorized disclosure of Confidential 6 Information, it shall take reasonable efforts to immediately (a) inform the Supplying Party in 7 writing of such disclosure, including to whom the material was disclosed; (b) make a reasonable 8 effort to retrieve all copies of the Confidential Information only to the extent the Receiving Party 9 has control over the unauthorized disclosed documents; (c) to the extent the Receiving party has 10 control over the person or persons to whom unauthorized disclosures were made, inform the 11 persons of the terms of this Protective Order.

12 V. Changes In and Objections to Designation of Information

13 20. Inadvertent Disclosure of Confidential Information. If a Supplying Party 14 through inadvertence produces any documents containing Confidential Information without 15 designating the documents as such in accordance with Paragraph 5 of this Protective Order, such 16 inadvertence does not waive any claim for confidentiality that the Supplying Party may possess 17 so long as the Supplying Party notifies the Receiving Party of the Confidential Information 18 designation in writing within twenty (20) days of the date that the Supplying Party became aware 19 or reasonably should have become aware of the failure to designate the information as 20 Confidential Information. If a Supplying Party fails to designate information as Confidential 21 Information within this twenty (20) day period, the Supplying Party waives its right to designate 22 the documents as Confidential Information. The Supplying Party shall also supply the Receiving 23 Party with a new copy of the documents designated in accordance with Paragraph 5 of this 24 Protective order, which shall be substituted for the undesignated documents. Upon receipt of the 25 substitute documents, the Supplying Party shall promptly return or destroy the improperly-26 designated document(s). Upon receipt of the Supplying Party's notice of the inadvertent 27 disclosure, the Receiving Party shall, within a reasonable time, not to exceed twenty (20) days,

1 (a) treat such material in accordance with this Order; (b) take reasonable steps to notify any 2 person to whom the Receiving Party disclosed such information of the new confidential 3 designation; (c) take reasonable steps to procure the return of all copies of such material from 4 any such persons known to have possession of such material who are not entitled to receipt of 5 Confidential Information under the terms of this Protective Order; (d) request in writing that 6 such person procure the return of such information from any persons to whom such person may 7 have disclosed the information.

8 Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, the Supplying Party shall be 9 deemed to have waived any claim of confidentiality with respect to information inadvertently not 10 claimed as confidential to which the Supplying Party fails to claim as Confidential Information, 11 prior to sixty (60) days from the close of discovery.

12 21. Challenges to Designation of Confidential Information. A Receiving Party
 13 may challenge a Supplying Party's designation or redesignation by notifying the Supplying Party 14 in writing that the confidentiality designation does not meet the definition of "Confidential 15 Information." The designation by any party of Confidential Information raises no presumption 16 that the information or documents are entitled under the law to protection. If any party 17 contends, in writing, that any document, material, ESI, or other thing has been erroneously 18 designated as Confidential Information, the party who designated the information as Confidential 19 Information shall initiate a meet and confer within ten (10) days with the opposing party and the 20 parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve issues relating to such designations. After the 21 meet and confer, the party who designated the information as Confidential Information shall file 22 a motion with the Court within thirty (30) days of receiving such written notification establishing 23 that the information is entitled to protection as Confidential Information under the law. If the 24 designating party fails to timely file such a motion within the allotted thirty (30) day period, the 25 document, ESI, material, or other thing, which is designated as Confidential Information, shall 26 forthwith be produced and be deemed not to be Confidential Information. Any information or 27 thing being challenged as inappropriately designated as Confidential Information, shall 28

1 nonetheless be treated as Confidential Information unless and until either (a) the designating 2 party gives written permission to do otherwise, (b) the designating party fails to file a motion
 3 establishing that the challenged material is subject to protection as Confidential Information 4 under the law within the thirty (30) day time period, or (c) the Court rules that the document, 5 material, ESI, or other thing shall not be treated as confidential. Should the Court rule that any 6 item designated as Confidential Information is not entitled to protection under the law, the 7 designating party shall, within fourteen (14) days after all appeals are exhausted, provide the 8 party challenging the confidential designation with copies of each item free of any language 9 indicating that the item is subject to a Protective Order.

10 22. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed to shift the burden of proof to the 11 party challenging the confidential designation with regard to whether the materials 12 produced pursuant to his Order are entitled to protection under the law as Confidential 13 Information.

14 VI. Filing Under Seal

15 23. Where a Party Files Documents and Contends the Documents Should be Kept 16 Sealed. Where a party intends to file documents that contain Confidential Information with the 17 Court, said party must file a motion for an order sealing the documents consistent with the Ninth 18 Circuit opinions of Kamakana v. City and County of Honolulu, 447 F.3d 1172, 1178-79 (9th Cir.
 19 2006) and Pintos v. Pacific Creditors Association, 605 F.3d 665, 678 (9th Cir. 2010) and 20 consistent with Local Rules 10-5(b). A copy of the motion must be served on all parties that 21 have appeared in the case.

22 24. Where a Party Files Documents Claimed as Confidential by Another Party.
 23 A party that files or intends to file with the Court Confidential Information produced by another 24 party but does not intend to request to have the records sealed, must do the following:

- 25 a. Lodge the documents under seal in accordance with Local Rules 10-5(b); 26 b. File redacted copies of the documents (if appropriate) so that they do not disclose 27 the contents of the records that are subject to the confidentiality agreement or

1 protective order;

2 c. Serve a copy of the motion on all parties that have appeared in the case;

3 and

4 d. Give written notice to the party that produced the documents that the documents 5 will be placed in the public court file unless the party files a timely motion to seal 6 records.

7 If the party that produced the Confidential Information and was served with the above-mentioned 8 notice fails to file a motion to seal the records within 15 days of receipt of the notice referenced in 9 subsection 24(c) or to obtain a court order extending the time to file such motion, the clerk must 10 promptly remove all the documents filed under seal pursuant to this provision from the envelope 11 or container where they are located and place them in the public file. If the party files a motion or 12 an application to seal within 15 days of receipt of the notice referenced in subsection 24(c) days 13 or such later time as the Court has ordered, these documents are to remain conditionally under 14 seal until the Court rules on the motion or application and thereafter are to be filed as ordered by 15 the Court.

16 This section shall not apply with respect to documents admitted into evidence as exhibits 17 at the trial of this matter. The Supplying Party reserves the right, however, to petition the Court 18 for protection with respect to such documents admitted into evidence as exhibits at trial.

19 VII. Miscellaneous Provisions

20 25. Amending or Modifying Protective Order. By written agreement of the parties, 21 or upon motion and order of the Court, the terms of this Protective Order may be amended or 22 modified. This Protective Order shall continue in force until amended or modified by consent or 23 agreement of the parties or by order of the Court, and shall survive any final judgment or 24 settlement in This Action, including but not limited to any final adjudication of any appeals and 25 petitions for extraordinary writs, unless otherwise vacated or modified by the Court. The Court 26 shall have continuing jurisdiction over the terms and provisions of this Protective Order.

27 ///

1 26. After Final Adjudication. Upon written demand by the Supplying Party made 2 within thirty (30) days after final adjudication of This Action, including but not limited to, any 3 final adjudication of any appeals and petitions for extraordinary writs, the Receiving Party shall 4 assemble and return all Confidential Information to the Supplying Party or, alternatively, shall 5 destroy all such material at the Supplying Party's expense. The Receiving Party shall verify the 6 complete destruction or return to the Supplying Party all such Confidential Information by 7 executing and mailing to counsel for the Supplying Party an Acknowledgment in the form 8 attached hereto as Exhibit B. A copy of each such executed Acknowledgement shall be 9 maintained by counsel for the Receiving Party and counsel for the Supplying Party.
 10 Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, the Receiving Party may maintain 11 its privileged communications, work product, Acknowledgements pursuant to the Protective 12 Order, materials required to be retained pursuant to applicable law, and all court-filed documents 13 even though they contain Confidential Information, but such materials shall remain subject to the 14 terms of this Protective Order. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, this 15 provision may not be invoke while the law firm Lopez McHugh LLP has active pending cases 16 relating to IVC Filters manufactured by C.R. Bard, Inc. and/or Bard Peripheral Vascular, Inc.

17 27. The terms of this Protective Order do not preclude, limit, restrict, or otherwise 18 apply to the use of Confidential Information at trial. The use of Confidential Information during 19 trial will be addressed in a later agreement between the parties, or, if they cannot reach an 20 agreement, by further order of the Court.

21 28. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed a waiver of any parties' right to oppose any 22 motion by any other party for a protective order or to oppose any objection to the disclosure of 23 any information or documents on any legal grounds, including, but not limited to, the grounds 24 that the party seeking the protective order has neither timely nor adequately objected to 25 disclosure of such documents and information or moved for a protective order.

26 29. This Protective Order does not relieve any party of its obligations to respond to 27 otherwise proper discovery in This Action. Nothing contained in this Order, or any action taken 28

1 pursuant to it shall waive or impair any party's right to assert claims of privilege or work product 2 protection, or the right of any party to object to the relevancy or admissibility of documents or 3 information sought or produced into assert objections to requested discovery on grounds other 4 than Confidential Information. This Protective Order also shall not effect or create any 5 presumption with respect to the right of any party from seeking or obtaining additional 6 protection with respect to any documents, materials, or information where allowed by law.

7 30. Inadvertent Production. Pursuant to Rule 502 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 8 inadvertent production of documents or electronically-stored information (hereinafter 9 collectively "Inadvertently-Produced Documents") subject to work product immunity, the 10 attorney-client privilege, or other legal privilege protecting information from discovery shall not 11 constitute a waiver of the immunity or privilege in the pending case or in any other federal or 12 state proceeding. In the event that a party inadvertently produces documents or ESI subject to a 13 claim of privilege, the Supplying Party shall, within 15 days of the discovery of the inadvertent 14 disclosure, notify the other party in writing of the inadvertent disclosure. The Supplying Party 15 may, in the notice, request a "clawback" of the inadvertently disclosed material. Upon receiving 16 notice of the inadvertent production, the parties agree to follow the procedures provided by 17 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B) with respect to the clawback of the Inadvertently-18 Produced Documents. All notes or other work product of the Receiving Party, reflecting the 19 contents of such materials, shall be destroyed and not used.

20 If the party receiving such Inadvertently-Produced Documents moves the Court to dispute 21 the claim of privilege or immunity, the party shall not assert the fact or circumstances of the 22 inadvertent production to challenge whether the material is, in fact, privileged. Likewise, as part 23 of any such motion, the Receiving Party shall not challenge the "reasonable steps," as described 24 in Rule 502(b) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, taken or not taken by the Supplying Party.

25 Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 502(d), there is no waiver of privilege or work 26 product immunity in this matter or any other matter in any other jurisdiction for any document or 27 ESI returned or destroyed under this subsection, or for the subject matter of any such document

1 or ESI, whether the privileged document or ESI was inadvertently produced following review or 2 as part of a “Quick Peek” production. In the event that either party receives information
3 produced in discovery from the other party that reasonably appears to be Inadvertently-Produced 4 Documents, the Receiving Party shall promptly notify the Supplying Party in writing of the 5 apparently inadvertent production.

6 31. Each party shall retain all rights and remedies available to it under the law for the 7 enforcement of this Protective Order against anyone who violates it.

8 32. Nothing in this Protective Order shall be construed to prevent this Court from 9 disclosing any facts the Court relies upon in making any findings, or issuing any ruling, order, 10 judgment, or decree.

11 33. Within 30 days of any information that has been claimed as Confidential 12 Information being de-designated or made publically available, the Supplying Party shall provide 13 notice of the Confidential Information that has been de-designated and/or made publicly 14 available. Such notice shall be made by identifying bates numbers or by other means such as 15 identifying categories of information where the identification of bates numbers are not possible 16 or not feasible. Publically available includes documents that have been filed with any court or 17 entered as an exhibit during trial not under seal, provided, however, that the Supplying Party is 18 not required to provide notice of de-designation with regard to such documents until any motion 19 or request to seal those documents is denied. This paragraph only applies to the extent that the 20 Supplying Party knew or should have known that the information claimed as Confidential 21 Information was de-designated or made publically available.
